

TU Clausthal

Universitätsarchiv

You always wanted to write history?

For a whole year now, the Corona crisis has dominated public and our private lives! The scope and consternation of so many is what characterizes the current situation - and yet we are all affected differently, deal with it differently and have different experiences.

How will we people look back on this "Corona Year" 2020 in 100 years? What will we remember as formative? Which wrong paths have we taken, which new paths have opened up for us? How will our experiences differ from future assessments of this time?

My Corona Time Capsule

2020 - 2120

That depends to a large extent on what testimonies we will leave behind for our posterity. We are witnesses of this time! Therefore, you too can help to fill the university archive with historical sources for tomorrow!

Here's how:

Share your thoughts, experiences and adventures with us by dropping an envelope with your notes, photos and throw them into the mailbox labeled "My Corona Time Capsule" at the Service-Desk in the University Library!

Contact: Universitätsbibliothek, Abt. Universitätsarchiv
Leibnizstraße 2, 38678 Clausthal-Zellerfeld
Telefon: 05323-72-3586
E-Mail: joerg.brecklinghaus@tu-clausthal.de

To the conditions of participation →

Conditions of participation

By participating, you agree not to submit any contributions (photos, texts, etc.) that violate applicable law, infringe the rights of third parties (in particular copyrights and personal rights) or contain content that glorifies violence, is offensive or pornographic. The applicable data protection regulations must also be complied with. If you submit photos, you must also ensure that you have the necessary declarations of consent from the persons depicted and that you have the necessary rights of use. You may only submit contributions for which you are the copyright holder or for which you have the permission of the copyright holder.

Files or texts whose contents violate legal regulations or morality will be excluded from participation in the project. The same applies to files and texts whose aims obviously do not correspond to the aims of the project or violate the rights of third parties.

As a participant, you irrevocably grant Clausthal University of Technology the exclusive, transferable and spatially, temporally and content-wise unrestricted rights of use to the contributions submitted to the project, including the right to archive them yourself or have them archived by third parties, to change them, to shorten them, to summarize them (especially into abstracts), to supplement them, to translate them into other languages and to edit them in any other way. Clausthal University of Technology may reproduce, publish and distribute the works and their parts individually or together with other works (in particular also in multimedia form, on data carriers and online, as well as via all media).

The Clausthal University of Technology is not obligated to publish contributions that have been sent.

The Clausthal University of Technology assumes no liability for third-party content. In particular, Clausthal University of Technology does not guarantee that the contributions transmitted in connection with the project do not infringe the rights of third parties.

The Clausthal University of Technology does not assume any liability for direct or indirect damages resulting from the use of the data or contributions or other information. Insofar as liability cannot be generally excluded, the Clausthal University of Technology shall in any case only be liable in the case of intentional or grossly negligent conduct as well as in the case of mandatory statutory provisions. As a participant, you expressly indemnify the Clausthal University of technology from all claims of third parties, insofar as these are in connection with the creation of your contributions.